START PREPARATIONS FOR BIG CELEBRATION

Formal Opening of Playgrounds to Occur Memorial Day

TO INVITE SOLDIERS

Veterans and Children to be Honor Guests--Speakers to be Chosen Later

Memorial day will be made a glorious event in Charleroi. At that time the formal opening of the Charleroi playgrounds will occur and one of the most ardent workers has started arrangements for the playgrounds celebration. Charles O. Frye has been appointed chairman of the committee to look after details.

Plans are being mapped out. The main celebration will occur in the evening. If possible some of the most noted old soldiers in Western Pennsylvania will be secured for speakers. Similar to last year, there may be a parade and a band concert may be made a feature.

Also at the time of the celebration it is planned to have observed a floriculture day. Last year beds of flowers were kept and the same plan will be followed this year. Children will be asked to bring flowers for planting on Memorial day. President Schafer has secured from Jesse K. Johnston a half dozen cherry trees and has planted them in the playgrounds. The cherries were a part of the order placed by Mr. Johnston in the interests of his boy friends in Charleroi.

Officers as follows have been elected by the Playgrounds Auxiliary to serve this year: President, John B. Schafer; secretary, George W. Might; treasurer, E. F. Krahmet.

J. A. Willson and company undertaking, 605 Fallowfield avenue. Open day and night. All calls answered promptly and attended personally by J. A. Willson. Bell phone 52-R.

Tipple Drops When Struck

Peculiar Wreck Results in Considerable Damage on the M. and W. Branch

A peculiar wreck occurred on the M. & W. branch railroad at Hazel-kk mine No. 1 Sunday evening. A freight train was backing up when two cars went off the track. Not knowing it the engineer kept pushing his engine back, with the result that the two cars struck the stanchions of the steel tipple. The whole tipple came down on the train and the railroad tracks. The wreckage was cleared by a work train but the damage will be considerable.

BASEBALL PLAYERS SHOW UP

First Lot of Indianapolis Team Arrives Ready for Duty

PHILLIPS GIVES LIST

The first lot of players for the Indianapolis baseball club of the Federal league showed up this morning to report to Manager Bill Phillips. Probably the first one to arrive was "Bill" France a pitcher of West Middletown. France is a hefty looking ball player who has plenty of promise. From no less or no more a burg than Monessen Sweeney came. Sweeney is a pitcher who is to be given a try-out. Miller, an outfielder, whose home is in Pittsburg arrived. Others are expected to drop in at any time. As they arrive they are being assigned to their hotels. The first work out may occur tomorrow morning. Of a certainty activity will begin if there are enough men here. However, it will probably be the middle of the week before affairs are shaped up.

Manager Bill Phillips this morning gave out the following list of players from which his team will probably be made up: Catchers, Durrell, Massing of Burlington, Iowa, Paisley; pitchers, Ross a former Central leaguer, Bair, France, Rodgers, Taylor, Beebe, Sweeney, Eli Cates, a former North western league pitcher; first base, Swatling, formerly of Zanesville; second base, Vandergrift, Latimore, Smith, the latter formerly with Springfield in the Three I league, shortstop, Scott, formerly of the Central league; third base, Tiemeyer, a former Tri State man; outfielders, "Darty" Miller, formerly of the Western League; Kaiser, formerly of Boston and Indianapolis. Brown formerly of Youngstown and Miller of Pittsburg.

WELL KNOWN WOMAN DIES AT AGE OF 88

Mrs. Caroline B. Frye Expires After Illness of Few Days at the Home of Her Daughter-- Widow of Reazen Frye

Mrs. Caroline B. Frye, aged 88 years, the widow of the late Reazen Frye of Monongahela died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. J. Richardson at 401 Lincoln avenue Saturday evening at 10:30 o'clock, after an illness lasting since last Tuesday. Arrangements are being made to hold the funeral on Tuesday afternoon. Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. E. G. Stanley, pastor of the First Baptist church at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in the Monongahela cemetery.

Mrs. Frye was born in Elizabethtown, now known as Elizabeth, and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Eckles. Mr. Eckles was a boat carpenter. She lived there with her parents until 1845 when she became the wife of Reazen Frye, a farmer of Washington county. They lived on the old Frye farm back of Lock No. 4 until 1874, when they moved to West Monongahela. There they lived until the death of the husband on May 9, 1906, at the advanced age of 85 years.

Mrs. Frye has spent a part of her time in Monongahela and a part in Charleroi with her daughter since the demise of her husband. She had become at about the time of her marriage a member of the Baptist church and held membership in this denomination at Monongahela for years. When she came to Charleroi she transferred her letter to the Baptist church here where she was a member at the time of her death. Mrs. Frye was the oldest member of the church in point of years.

Four sons and daughters survive. They are, in order of age: Thomas Franklin Frye, of southern California; Mrs. S. J. Richardson, of Charleroi; John H. Frye of Charleroi and Stephen R. Frye of Monongahela. Three children died when young. Mrs. Frye was one of a family of nine and was the last survivor.

The Frye family to which she belonged is one of the oldest in Washington county. Her husband was born in a house where the Coyle dwelling in North Charleroi now stands. His father was one of the earlier settlers. Mrs. Frye was a widely known woman.

After having undergone extensive repairs to put it in shape for the hard usage it will receive during the period of construction of the outer lock, the large lock at Lock No. 4 was opened up Saturday at 2 o'clock. This morning the work of dredging for the coffer dam to be put around the smaller lock was started. The coffer dam construction will start in a few days. Repairs on the large lock were completed by the government force of the Steamer Slackwater. George Nutt, superintendent of locks for the government was the man in charge. Capt. James T. Nutt of the Slackwater looks after many of the details. The work of repair consisted mainly in an overhauling. The lock was pumped out and the bottom put in the best possible condition and mechanical apparatus of the gates repaired.

MINER AT BENTLEYVILLE SHOT TO DEATH FOR RESISTING ARREST

Constables Fire Into Haymow of Barn From Where He Had Defied Them With Ax-- Try to Frighten, but Kill

Simon Provojassek, aged 29, a miner of Bentleyville, died in the Memorial Hospital in Monongahela Sunday morning from a bullet wound which he received late Saturday afternoon while resisting arrest. Provojassek, it is said had a habit of roaming over farms in the vicinity of Bentleyville frightening women and children. Saturday afternoon he wandered to the farm of Henry Scott, picked up an ax and began chopping wood. Mrs. Scott became frightened and called her husband, who rode to Bentleyville and swore out a warrant against Provojassek. When Provojassek saw the officers he barricaded himself in the haymow of the barn and stood on guard with the ax threatening to kill them. It is said the officers began firing their revolvers through the floor of the haymow to frighten him. After waiting some time and not hearing any further noise the officers investigated and found Provojassek unconscious with a bullet wound in the head. County Detective W. S. McCleary was notified of the shooting. He arrested Constable W. E. Eppley and Deputy Constable James Applegate. Eppley was released on bail.

Miss Helen Meeker is a Pittsburg visitor today.

Miss Sarah Claybaugh visited on Sunday with friends in Uniontown.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gans have gone to Uniontown.

Mrs. J. Hass has gone to New York city.

HEAVY COAL TRADE IN SPITE OF LOCK CLOSING

Two Hurt in a Collision

Automobile and Motorcycle Meet Disastrously on California Street

Dr. John W. Farquhar while driving his automobile along Wood street at California Sunday afternoon about 2 o'clock collided with a motorcycle ridden by W. W. Shalley of near California and W. H. Johnson a jeweler California. The physician's machine and the motorcycle met at the corner of Wood and Second streets. The men on the motorcycle were thrown against the curb. Shalley's left leg was broken and he was taken to the Memorial hospital at Monongahela. Johnson escaped with a badly sprained ankle. The motorcycle was completely demolished.

No blame is attached to anyone, the accident being considered entirely unavoidable.

Co-operative Association Makes Its Quarterly Report

TAKES IN $19,544.13

According to the statement just issued by the Charleroi Progressive Co-operative Association, popularly known as the "Co-operative Store," with branches in Monessen and Uniontown the last quarter's business, which ended April 6, has been a most profitable one. The total receipts for the quarter, including cash sales, stock sales, admission fees, and a cash balance of $1,036.50 from the last quarter, were $19,544.13. The expenditures were $15,335.96, leaving a cash balance on hand and in bank of $4,208.17.

During the past quarter the cash sales of merchandise, chiefly groceries, were $14,802.44. On this basis, the annual sales of the store would amount to nearly $60,000. As a matter of fact it will be more than this, as the membership is increasing rapidly. This increase in membership is one of the most gratifying results of the quarter's business, as the number of members received during the past quarter was 218. This however, includes the new branch store recently organized in Uniontown, which was only opened April 11. The Monessen branch was organized six months ago and only two quarters business appears in this quarterly statement. The total membership of the association is 723.

The gross profit for the quarter was $3,229.61, and the general expenses (Continued on second page.)

ACTIVITY CONTINUING

Boats Ever on Move--Average at Lock No. 4 Goes Above 600,000 Bushels a Day

Coal men with mines in and above the fourth pool of the Monongahela river need have no fear that the closing of one of the locks at Lock No. 4 will cut down to any appreciable extent the river coal trade. Such is the claim of Lockmaster George W. Paxton at Lock No. 4 and his workmen. They back up their claim by statements of shipments made through the smaller lock during the period of several days the larger lock was closed for repairs.

A good average of coal shipments per day with both locks in operation is 600,000 bushels. Yet this figure has been attained at Lock No. 4 with the small lock only in operation since the first of this month when the larger lock was closed for repairs.

The largest shipment of any day since the shutting off of trade through the larger lock was 725,000 bushels on last Thursday. In some cases it was necessary to make six lockages, with 15 minutes to each lockage. This of course consumed an hour and a half for a single tow.

The old lock at Lock No. 4 which will be torn out within the next few weeks is a historical object. It is just exactly 69 years, a week and one day old. It was completed and put into operation on April 13, 1844. The figure "13" failed to prove a hoodoo. When the lock was dedicated it was put into continuous service. With but a few days off for repairs it has been in continuous operation ever since.

THE PLAY GROUNDS.

Active work has been started for the opening and conduct of the public playgrounds in "The Pines" this year the same as last, with hopes of possible extensions of the scope and additional equipment. Thanks to the initiative of President John B. Schafer of the Charleroi Business Men's Association, who has been ably assisted by his official staff appointed for the purpose, Charleroi has taken the lead in the playgrounds movement in the Monongahela valley and this civic work is already productive of beneficent results.

Thus far the work of managing the movement and providing funds and equipment has been largely voluntary.
Both the borough council and the school board have made as liberal appropriations as they could from their present budgets, but public contributions and benefits have had to be resorted to in order to finance the movement. By the generosity of the owners of "The Pines" the playgrounds have had a most desirable location, but this is private property and is likely to be withdrawn from public use in time. The question now before the people is a movement to establish the playgrounds on a permanent basis and maintain it at public expense.

It is only a question of time when the playgrounds will become as much a function of public expenditure as the maintenance of the schools themselves. Such a movement will have the tendency to repress crime and lawlessness and it will require less money to prevent the development of criminals than it now takes to prosecute and punish them after the public has done comparatively nothing to keep the children from growing into lawless and criminal ways.

A NATIONAL FIGHT.

The fight for woman suffrage has now begun in dead earnest; along national lines. Bills providing for an equal suffrage amendment to the constitution of the United States have just been introduced in the senate and the house of congress. These bills, if passed by a two-thirds vote, must be submitted to the several states for ratification. Thirty-six states are needed to ratify. The suffrage amendment should be the eighteenth amendment. The sixteenth is the income tax amendment which passed Congress in 1909 and became operative in February 1913. The amendment providing for the direct election of Senators passed by Congress only ten months ago has just been ratified, Connecticut being the thirty-sixth state.

The history of these two amendments proves that changes in the constitution can be made with reasonable promptness whenever the public is aroused to a recognition of their desirability.

BABE HIDDEN; MAN ARRESTED

Greek Said to Have Tried to Conceal Birth of Infant
Which Died Sunday

CORONER INVESTIGATING

Mike Cresoulie, a Greek, was arrested and lodged in the lockup on Sunday for the alleged neglect of a new born infant, which died shortly after the man's arrest. Cresoulie and a woman who claimed to be his wife live in a basement in Fallowfield avenue, near Ninth street. An infant was born Friday night but neighbors who went in next morning saw that none was visible and both the man and woman they all denied that one had been born. Finally, after one of the women insisted that she had heard it cry the man produced the infant from a small dark closet where it had evidently been lying for some hours without care. It was still living and was then cared for by the neighbors.

The attention of the police was called to the case. The man was arrested and Coroner Heffran notified after the child died. A nurse was procured to look after the woman who was very low, and had no regular attendant but the man up to the time of his arrest. An investigation will be made by Coroner Heffran. Cresoulie has been employed at the American Tin Plate mill at Monessen.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"One of the difficulties in getting apprentices to learn a trade that is not acquired easily is the matter of wages and the necessities of the families of those who appear willing to make the start," said a prominent manufacturer of the valley this morning. "I would like to take on apprentices in my works, but all of the applicants I have had so far come from families that I know would naturally expect more help from their sons during the next four or five years than I can afford to pay.

"In my business the first year an apprentice would cost me much more in time and damaged material than the minimum wages I could pay would come to and the second year, with a slight increase, the apprentice would do well if he broke even with the establishment. The next two years, if he were apt and intelligent he would be of some help and reimburse me to a large extent for the trouble and expense of teaching him. But such an apprenticeship, while it would be infinitely more profitable to a boy in the long run, would not bring in as much money at the time as if he went to work in some of the mines or factories of the community.

"That is one of the reasons why good tradesmen are becoming scarce in all the crafts. Comparatively few boys care to make the sacrifices necessary to acquire a skilled trade, and as a result good workmen are exceedingly hard to find."

"A law prohibiting the slaughter of calves for veal and allowing beef and live stock to come into this country duty free would be two great steps toward solving the problem of the high price of beef," said Patrick Cudhay, the packer, recently.

"The people can get along easily without veal, but not without beef.
Veal may be looked on as a luxury and beef as a necessity; so that anything may be done to affect the supply of veal if it will increase the supply of beef.

"With meat on the free list a great deal of cheap mutton would be imported from Australia."

GOLD MEDAL FOR BEST ROAD ESSAY

Children Offered Inducement
to Encourage Their Study
of Good Roads

AGE LIMIT IS PLACED

A gold medal to the school boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 15 who writes the best composition not to exceed 800 words on the repair and maintenance of earth roads, is to be awarded by Logan Waller Page, Director, Office of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture,
Washington, D. C. All compositions must be submitted to Mr. Page before May 15, and the medal will be awarded as soon thereafter as the compositions can be graded. The composition may be based on knowledge gained from books or other sources, but no quotations should be made.

After many years' experience in dealing with the public road situation of the country, it is Mr. Page's belief that ignorance on the subject of repair and maintenance of roads is as much the cause of their bad condition as any other one factor. It is expected that the competition will bring about a better understanding of the subject of repair and maintenance in the rural districts.

Many children living in the rural districts have experienced the disadvantages of roads made impassable through a lack of proper maintenance and it is expected that their interest in the competition will stimulate greater interest among the parents.
Bad roads have prevented many children from obtaining a proper education and have even prevented doctors from reaching the side of rural patients in time to save their lives.

Any child between the ages mentioned attending a country school may compete. Only one side of the paper must be written on; each page should be numbered; the name, age and address of the writer and the name and location of the school which he or she is attending must be plainly written at the top of the first page. The announcement of the competition has been sent to the superintendents of schools in the rural districts. No further information can be obtained from the Office of Public Roads. This announcement should be plain to everyone and all children will thus start on a mass of equality.

One of the greatest photoplays ever presented in Charleroi is shown at the Palace Theatre tonight. This is James K. Hackett and company, as shown by Daniel Frohman in "The Prisoner of Zenda," in four parts. The play is a dramatic masterpiece of romance and adventure, and an artistic triumph in photography and setting.
It is one of the biggest hits in the history of the film. The Palace has secured the services of a noted lecturer to present this great feature.

FAITH OF THE FOREST.

Curious Traits of One of the Savage Tribes of Siberia.

Concerning one of the obscure races of northwestern Siberia a traveler writes: "A few of the traits of these curious people may prove of interest, as they show that environment is the strongest factor in determining character. Their intense superstition is accounted for by innate fear of all things they cannot understand. Their shyness, dislike of strangers and dread of their lamas and chiefs are again the result of superstition and seclusion. Sadness and melancholia are stamped on their faces, as is natural to a people who are in constant fear of the evil of the mountains, rivers and forests, whose whole time is taken up with propitiating the gods lest evil befall them."

"The Uralian is a product of the forest as the Arab is of the desert. The one is the antithesis of the other. Environment has molded the character of each to his surroundings. The fearless believer in one God, the nomad of the sunlit desert, compares strikingly with the superstitious inhabitants of dark, damp forests, fearful of evil spirits and cowering under their witch doctors."

"All through life the forest dweller is in fear of offending the deities, and at death his corpse is carried out and placed on some lone hilltop, where the wild beasts are expected to devour it if the man has led a good life, but had Uralian had not that doubtful honor bestowed upon them."—Chicago News

RAZORS IN CHINA.

They Cost Little, but They Are Made From Old Iron Horseshoes.

An interesting feature of Chinese industry is the making of knives and razors from old horseshoes. The local blacksmiths in the interior cities and towns supply the great population of the empire with knives, razors and scissors of an inferior quality at a very small cost. This cutlery comes from small shops, where only one or two men are employed, usually the proprietor and his sons, and is made from old horseshoes imported from England and the continent. A discarded steel shoe offers the best material for blades, but the blacksmiths prefer the old shoes of soft iron that come from Glasgow and Ham burg.

One British firm at Tientsin brought over a cargo of old horseshoes from Australia recently, but could not dispose of them as the native smiths said that the iron was too hard. They like the soft iron because it can be more easily worked by their primitive methods.

A razor commonly used by the poorer class, having a cutting edge of less than two inches, costs 20 tung tzu, about 9 cents in American currency. Upon the strap the blade takes a fair cutting edge, but is too soft to hold it. Any number of shavings are necessary before the act of shaving can be completed. After the blades are forged they are simply case hardened and not subjected to the careful tempering employed in the production of western cutlery.—Youth's Companion.

THE UMBRELLA.

Its Antiquity and Its Introduction Into English Writings.

Umbrellas were first used in a country where the intensity of the light and heat rendered a shade almost indispensable, and discoveries at Nineveh show that they were carried before the king in time of peace and sometimes in war.

In 1608 Thomas Coryat traveled in Italy and wrote: "The people do carry umbrellas that is, things that minister shadow unto them for shelter against the scorching of the sun."

In Beaumont and Fletcher's play, 1640, "Rule a Wife and Have a Wife," are these words, which prove that they were then known in England: "Are you at ease? Now is your heart at ease. Now you have got a shadow, an umbrella, to keep the world's scorn and opinion from your fair credit."

In 1786 Jonas Hanway died in a house in Regent Square. He was the first man who ventured to walk the streets of London with an umbrella over his head.

In Sheshean was committed to the court of king's bench for a libel and was sentenced to stand in the pillory, but a servant in hurry was hired to hold an umbrella over his head to

O-dori Street, Tokyo.

One of the most densely populated spots in the world is O-dori street, Tokyo. The long thoroughfare known as Ginza, which runs from near the Shimbashi railway station to Spec-tacles bridge, is made up of several streets with different names, some wide and modern, some old fashioned and narrow, and if the earth were suddenly to gape open wide in that portion known as O-dori street at any hour of the day there is no other thoroughfare in the Japanese city where the results to human life would be more fatal. For here the tide of human life runs the highest. But O-dori street is extremely narrow, so that the density of the crowd does not make the daily figures much above the 300,000 mark. Unlike most of the other important cities of the world, this thickly populated commercial district of Tokyo is situated outside the city walls.—Grand Magazine

FIRST AID IN THE HOME.

The Way to Care For Wounds Until the Doctor Arrives.

There should always be some one in the home who understands the principles of "first aid in injury." Some one who can clean a wound, stop bleeding and apply a bandage.

Even the simplest wounds—where any blood flows—should be given prompt and scientific attention. This does not mean that every home should have a trained surgeon. The following ten emergency hints should be memorized:

Stop the bleeding if severe.
Do not touch an open wound with the fingers.

Note the nature of the injuries and put the injured person in a comfortable place and position.

Summon a surgeon.
Do not disturb blood clots.
Never probe for a bullet.

Pick shreds of clothing and splinters or dirt from a wound.

Then bring the edges of the wound together, but without touching them.

Pack the wound with gauze or absorbent cotton and apply bandage.

Bind on splints if bones are broken.

With a little study, a half hour a day for a week, and some practice, any one will be able to carry out the foregoing hints in a hygienic manner.—Kansas City Times.

The Struggles of a Sculptor.

Auguste Rodin, the French sculptor, had a great struggle with poverty, and adverse criticism in his youth. Of an episode of this early period a writer says: "With that indefinable will and singleness of purpose that never failed him throughout his career the young sculptor set himself to express in clay, marble or bronze his conception of life and art. He used his leisure in working at nighttime in a deserted stable he had transformed into a studio or his wonderful mask of 'The Man With the Broken Nose.' After eighteen months of hard and patient labor he finished this mask and sent it to the salon. It took the hanging committee fourteen years to discover any merit in the work, for it was rejected in 1894 and finally accepted only in 1918."

BAZAARS OF CAIRO.

The Curious Tiny Shops and the Narrow, Swarming Streets.

The bazaars of Cairo are very interesting. The streets are exceedingly narrow, and the stores of the merchants are often no larger than a good sized cupboard, without doors, but with shelves on which the goods are displayed. The merchants squat down on a little platform in front. You see here the workers in gold and silver, weavers of silks and shawl makers, doing their work in the same way it was done hundreds of years ago. The old bazaar is that of the seventeenth century. They have a whole street to themselves and when you get within a hundred yards of so the only guide you need is your nose.

These narrow streets are crowded with a ceaseless throng of natives—women with veiled faces, men in white and children on donkeys, various carts drawn by donkeys on which sit women encased in black nothing visible but one eye and occasionally along comes a great lumbering camel, quite as large as a full grown elephant. The native shops, crowded close past with studied indifference to life and time and rather than get hurt on exposed vessels into a bunch of natives at the risk of having your pocket picked or your goods withered by a hot sun than retreat.

Information Not Needed.

A middle-aged woman went into a shop and without hesitation made straight for the crumpe counter. The girl who handled this funeral material was extremely affable.

"We have a large stock of crapes," she explained. "Let me show you some new French goods, very popular at this time for every kind of mourning and designed to express every degree of grief. If you will tell me for whom you are in mourning I can fix you out in exactly the right thing."

"Husband," replied the customer briefly.

"In that case," said the girl graciously, "I can tell you just what!"

"Young lady," interrupted the older woman angrily, "you needn't bother yourself. This is the fourth husband I've buried, and I know all about it!"—St. Paul Dispatch.

The Fiddle Drill.

The "fiddle drill" is one of the oldest stonecutting tools in existence. It is said to antedate Greek sculpture and is in use today in about the same form as it was 2,000 years ago. As its name implies, its action resembles a fiddle. The drill is of two pieces. In one hand a carrier holds the drill stock, which is like a carpenter's brace, except that it is straight instead of having a crank. In the other hand he holds the "bow," which is strung with a brass wire and which is given a turn around the drill stock. To use the drill the carrier places the drill stock against his breast, holding it with his left hand, and with his right he draws the bow back and forth, fiddle fashion. This imparts a rotary motion to the drill stock, and the drill is ground to cut in either way it turns. The fiddle drill is used in the finest work in cases where the sculptor could not deal with his chisel and hammer without endangering the

MAN'S ARTERIES.

And Some of the Causes That Tend to Make Them Harden.
"A man is as old as his arteries" is a common saying among physicians, which has come to be taken up by their patients. Dr. Herbert C. Clapp of Boston in the New York Medical Record comes forward with an article declaring that worry is a common cause of arteriosclerosis, the hardening of the arteries is not infrequently considered as one of the customary and proper accompaniments of a ripe old age—sometimes even of middle life. It is not necessarily so, and that even at fourscore years, as proved by autopsies, the arteries have been found to be perfectly sound. He cites the case of the famous old man, Thomas Parr of England, who died at the advanced age of 152 and whose arteries were found by Harvey—who discovered the circulation of the blood—on examination after death to be perfectly sound.

Dr. Clapp says that within certain limits the arteries do not harden because they are old, but are old because they are diseased. Among causes for arteriosclerosis he gives overeating, excessive muscular strain and excessive brain work. "Worry produces functional disturbances and undue blood pressure. It brings with it arteriosclerosis. It is the worst of enemies and it is without an adequate reason therefore and elicits the following quotation: 'I am an old man and have many troubles, but most of them have been opened'."

Too Strong.

A young woman from the west who lately has been admitted to the intimacy of "the artistic set" of Washington recently made this query of an artist with reference to the work of a fellow painter: "Why does Blank stand off and half shut his eyes when he looks at the pictures he is painting? When I visited his studio the other day he made me do it too." "The explanation is simple enough," said the other. "Did you ever try to look at them with your eyes wide open? Well, don't; you can't stand it." —New York Press.

HUNDRED YEAR CLUBS

Believe Life May Be Prolonged.
Men who are devoting their lives to the study of longevity believe that in days to come a man of ninety will be in his prime and old age will begin long past a hundred years.

When the blood gets thin and sluggish and creeps lazily through the veins and the arteries begin to harden, there is nothing that will enrich the blood, improve the circulation and restore strength to every backsliding organ in the body so quickly as our delicious cod liver and iron tonic Vinol. Here is proof.

Mrs. Michael Bloom of Lewiston Pa., at 83 years of age was so weak she had to be wheeled around in an invalid's chair—she writes that after taking a few bottles of Vinol she could take long walks and do her housework. That shows how Vinol strengthens old people.

Try Vinol on our guarantee that it will do you good or cost you nothing. Piper Bros., Druggists.

START PREPARATIONS FOR BIG CELEBRATION

Formal Opening of Playgrounds to Occur Memorial Day

TO INVITE SOLDIERS

Veterans and Children to be Honor Guests--Speakers to be Chosen Later

Memorial day will be made a glorious event in Charleroi. At that time the formal opening of the Charleroi playgrounds will occur and one of the most ardent workers has started arrangements for the playground celebration. Charles O. Frye has been appointed chairman of the committee to look after details.

Plans are being mapped out. The main celebration will occur in the evening. If possible some of the most noted old soldiers in Western Pennsylvania will be secured for speakers. Similar to last year, there may be a parade and a band concert may be made a feature.

Also at the time of the celebration it is planned to have observed a floriculture day. Last year beds of flowers were kept and the same plan will be followed this year. Children will be asked to bring flowers for planting on Memorial day. President Schafer has secured from Jesse K. Johnston a half dozen cherry trees and has planted them in the playgrounds. The cherries were a part of the order placed by Mr. Johnston in the interests of his boy friends in Charleroi.

Officers as follows have been elected by the Playgrounds Auxiliary to serve this year: President, John B. Schafer; secretary, George W. Might; treasurer, E. F. Krahmer.

The wreckage was cleared by a work train but the damage will be considerable.

BASEBALL PLAYERS SHOW UP

First Lot of Indianapolis Team Arrives Ready for Duty

PHILLIPS GIVES LIST

The first lot of players for the Indianapolis baseball club of the Federal league showed up this morning to report to Manager Bill Phillips. Probably the first one to arrive was "Bill" France a pitcher of West Middletown. France is a hefty looking ball player who has plenty of promise. From no less or no more a burg than Monessen Sweeney came. Sweeney is a pitcher who is to be given a try-out. Miller, an outfielder, whose home is in Pittsburg arrived. Others are expected to drop in at any time. As they arrive they are being assigned to their hotels. The first work out may occur tomorrow morning. Of a certainty activity will begin if there are enough men here. However, it will probably be the middle of the week before affairs are shaped up.

Manager Bill Phillips this morning gave out the following list of players from which his team will probably be made up: Catchers, Durrell, Massing of Burlington, Iowa, Paisley; pitchers, Ross a former Central leaguer, Bair, France, Rodgers, Taylor, Beebe, Sweeney, Eli Cates, a former North western league pitcher; first base, Swalling, formerly of Zanesville; second base, Vandergriff, Latimore, Smith, the latter formerly with Springfield in the Three I league, shortstop, Scott, formerly of the Central league; third base, Tiemeyer, a former Tri State man; outfielders, "Dusty" Miller, formerly of the Western League; Kaiser, formerly of Boston and Indianapolis. Brown formerly of Youngstown and Miller of Pittsburg.

WELL KNOWN WOMAN DIES AT AGE OF 88

Mrs. Caroline B. Frye Expires After Illness of Few Days at the Home of Her Daughter-- Widow of Reazen Frye

Mrs. Caroline B. Frye, aged 88 years, the widow of the late Reazen Frye of Monongahela died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. J. Richardson at 401 Lincoln avenue Saturday evening at 10:30 o'clock, after an illness lasting since last Thursday. Arrangements are being made to hold the funeral on Tuesday afternoon. Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. E. G. Stanley, pastor of the First Baptist church at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in the Monongahela cemetery.

Mrs. Frye was born in Elizabeth, Pa. known as Elizabeth and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Eckles. Mr. Eckles was a wood carpenter. She lived there with her parents until 1845 when she became the wife of Reazen Frye, a farmer of Washington county. They lived on the old Frye farm back of Lock No. 4 until 1874, when they moved to West Monongahela. There they lived until the death of the husband on May 9 1906, at the advanced age of 85 years.

Mrs. Frye has spent a part of her time in Monongahela and a part in Charleroi with her daughter since the demise of her husband. She had become at about the time of her marriage a member of the Baptist church and held membership in this denomination at Monongahela for years. When she came to Charleroi she was the last survivor.

Four sons and daughters survive. They are, in order of age: Thomas Franklin Frye, of southern California; Mrs. S. J. Richardson, of Charleroi; John H. Frye of Charleroi and Stephen R. Frye of Monongahela. Three children died when young. Mrs. Frye was one of a family of nine and was the last survivor.

The Frye family to which she belonged is one of the oldest in Washington county. Her husband was born in a house where the Coyle dwelling in North Charleroi now stands. His father was one of the earlier settlers. Mrs. Frye was a widely known woman.

START ACTIVITY TODAY ON THE BUILDING OF BIG COFFER DAM

Lock No. 4 Construction Work Being Gotten Under Way--Repairs of Large Lock Completed on Saturday

After having undergone extensive repairs to put it in shape for the hard usage it will receive during the period of construction of the outer lock, the large lock at Lock No. 4 was opened up Saturday at 2 o'clock. This morning the work of dredging for the coffer-dam to be put around the smaller lock was started. The coffer dam construction will start in a few days. Repairs on the large lock were completed by the government force of the Steamer Slackwater. George Nutt, superintendent of locks for the government was the man in charge. Capt. James T. Nutt of the Slackwater looks after many of the details. The work of repair consisted mainly in an overhauling. The lock was pumped out and the bottom put in the best possible condition and mechanical apparatus of the gates repaired.

MINER AT BENTLEYVILLE SHOT TO DEATH FOR RESISTING ARREST

Constables Fire Into Haymow of Barn From Where He Had Defied Them With Ax-- Try to Frighten, but Kill

Simon Provojassek, aged 29, a miner of Bentleyville, died in the Memorial Hospital in Monongahela Sunday morning from a bullet wound which he received late Saturday afternoon while resisting arrest. Provojassek, it is said had a habit of roaming over farms in the vicinity of Bentleyville frightening women and children.

Saturday afternoon he wandered to the farm of Henry Scott, picked up an ax and began chopping wood. Mrs. Scott became frightened and called her husband, who rode to Bentleyville and swore out a warrant against Provojassek. When Provojassek saw the officers he barricaded himself in the haymow of the barn and stood on guard with the ax threatening to kill them. It is said the officers began firing their revolvers through the floor of the haymow to frighten him.

After waiting some time and not hearing any further noise the officers investigated and found Provojassek unconscious with a bullet wound in the head. County Detective W. S. McCleary was notified of the shooting. He arrested Constable W. E. Eppey and Deputy Constable James Applegate. Eppey was released on bail.

HEAVY COAL TRADE IN SPITE OF LOCK CLOSING

Two Hurt in a Collision

Automobile and Motorcycle Meet Disastrously on California Street

Dr. John W. Farquhar while driving his automobile along Wood street at California Sunday afternoon about 2 o'clock collided with a motorcycle ridden by W. W. Shalley of near California and W. H. Johnson a jeweler. The motorcycle met at the corner of Wood and Second streets. The man on the motorcycle were thrown against the curb. Shalley's left leg was broken and he was taken to the Memorial hospital at Monongahela. Johnson escaped with a badly sprained ankle. The motorcycle was completely demolished.

No blame is attached to anyone, the accident being considered entirely unavoidable.

RECEIPTS OF STORE ARE LARGE

Co-operative Association Makes Its Quarterly Report

TAKES IN $19,544.13

According to the statement just issued by the Charleroi Progressive Co-operative Association, popularly known as the "Co-operative Store," with branches in Monessen and Uniontown the last quarter's business, which ended April 6, has been a most profitable one. The total receipts for the quarter, including cash sales, stock sales, admission fees, and a cash balance of $1,036.50 from the last quarter, were $19,544.13. The expenditures were $15,335.96, leaving a cash balance on hand and in bank of $4,208.17.

During the past quarter the cash sales of merchandise, chiefly groceries, were $14,802.44. On this basis, the annual sales of the store would amount to nearly $60,000. As a matter of fact it will be more than this, as the membership is increasing rapidly. This increase in membership is one of the most gratifying results of the quarter's business, as the number of members received during the past quarter was 218. This however, includes the new branch store recently organized in Uniontown, which was only opened April 11. The Monessen branch was organized six months ago and only two quarters business appears in this quarterly statement. The total membership of the association is 733.

The gross profit for the quarter was $3,229.64, and the general expenses were $1,036.50.

Coal men, with mines in and above the fourth pool of the Monongahela river need have no fear that the closing of the locks at Lock No. 4 will cut down to any appreciable extent the river coal trade. Such is the claim of Lockmaster George W. Paxton at Lock No. 4 and his workmen. They back up their claim by statements of shipments made through the smaller lock during the period of several days the larger lock was closed for repairs.

A good average of coal shipments per day with both locks in operation is 600,000 bushels. Yet this figure has been attained at Lock No. 4 with the small lock only in operation since the first of this month when the larger lock was closed for repairs.

The largest shipment of any day since the shutting off of trade through the larger lock was 725,000 bushels on last Thursday. In some cases it was necessary to make six lockages, with 15 minutes to each lockage. This of course consumed an hour and a half for a single tow.

The old lock at Lock No. 4 which will be torn out within the next few weeks is a historical object. It is just exactly 69 years, a week and one day old. It was completed and put into operation on April 13, 1844. The figure "13" failed to prove a hoodoo. When the lock was dedicated it was put into continuous service. With but a few days off for repairs it has been in continuous operation ever since.

THE PLAY GROUNDS.

Active work has been started for the opening and conduct of the public playgrounds in "The Pines" this year the same as last, with hopes of possible extensions of the scope and additional equipment. Thanks to the initiative of President John B. Schaffer of the Charleroi Business Men's Association, who has been ably assisted by his official staff appointed for the purpose, Charleroi has taken the lead in the playground movement in the Monongahela valley and this civic work is already productive of beneficent results.

Thus far the work of managing the movement and providing funds and equipment has been largely voluntary. Both the borough council and the school board have made as liberal appropriations as they could from their present budgets, but public contributions and benefits have had to be resorted to in order to finance the movement. By the generosity of the owners of "The Pines" the playgrounds have had a most desirable location, but this is private property and is likely to be withdrawn from public use in time. The question now before the people is a movement to establish the playgrounds on a permanent basis and maintain it at public expense.

It is only a question of time when the playgrounds will become as much a function of public expenditure as the maintenance of the schools themselves. Such a movement will have the tendency to repress crime and lawlessness and it will require less money to prevent the development of criminals than it now takes to prosecute and punish them after the public has done comparatively nothing to keep the children from growing into lawless and criminal ways.

A NATIONAL FIGHT.

The fight for woman suffrage has now begun in dead earnest along national lines. Bills providing for an equal suffrage amendment to the constitution of the United States have just been introduced in the senate and the house of congress. These bills, if passed by a two-thirds vote, must be submitted to the several states for ratification. Thirty-six states are needed to ratify. The suffrage amendment should be the eighteenth amendment. The sixteenth is the income tax amendment which passed Congress in 1909 and became operative in February 1913. The amendment providing for the direct election of Senators passed by Congress only ten months ago has just been ratified, Connecticut being the thirty-sixth state.

The history of these two amendments proves that changes in the constitution can be made with reasonable promptness whenever the public is aroused to a recognition of their desirability.

BABE HIDDEN; MAN ARRESTED

Greek Said to Have Tried to Conceal Birth of Infant
Which Died Sunday

CORONER INVESTIGATING

Mike Cresoulie, a Greek, was arrested and lodged in the lockup on Sunday for the alleged neglect of a new born infant, which died shortly after the man's arrest. Cresoulie and a woman who claimed to be his wife live in a basement in Fallowfield avenue, near Ninth street. An infant was born Friday night but neighbors who went in next morning sate that none was visible and both the man and woman they allege denied that one had been born. Finally, after one of the women insisted that she had heard it cry the man produced the infant from a small dark closet where it had evidently been lying for some hours without care. It was still living and was then cared for by the neighbors.

The attention of the police was called to the case. The man was arrested and Coroner Heffran notified after the child died. A nurse was procured to look after the woman who was very low, and had no regular attendant but the man up to the time of his arrest. An investigation will be made by Coroner Heffran. Cresoulie has been employed at the American Tin Plate mill at Monessen.

"One of the difficulties in getting apprentices to learn a trade that is not acquired easily is the matter of wages and the necessities of the families of those who appear willing to make the start," said a prominent manufacturer of the valley this morning. "I would like to take on apprentices in my works, but all of the applicants I have had so far come from families that I know would naturally expect more help from their sons during the next four or five years than I can afford to pay."

"In my business the first year an apprentice would cost me much more in time and damaged material than the minimum wages I could pay would come to and the second year, with a slight increase, the apprentice would do well if he broke even with the establishment. The next two years, if he were apt and intelligent he would be of some help and reimburse me to a large extent for the trouble and expense of teaching him. But such an apprenticeship, while it would be infinitely more profitable to a boy in the long run, would not bring in as much money at the time as if he went to work in some of the mines or factories of the community."

"That is one of the reasons why good tradesmen are becoming scarce in all the crafts. Comparatively few boys care to make the sacrifices necessary to acquire a skilled trade, and as a result good workmen are exceedingly hard to find."

"A law prohibiting the slaughter of calves for veal and allowing beef and live stock to come into this country duty free would be two great steps toward solving the problem of the high price of beef," said Patrick Cudhay, the packer, recently.

"The people can get along easily without veal, but not without beef. Veal may be looked on as a luxury and beef as a necessity; so that anything may be done to affect the supply of veal if it will increase the supply of beef."

"With meat on the free list a great deal of cheap mutton would be imported from Australia."

GOLD MEDAL FOR BEST ROAD ESSAY

Children Offered Inducement
to Encourage Their Study
of Good Roads

AGE LIMIT IS PLACED

A gold medal to the school boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 15 who writes the best composition not to exceed 800 words on the repair and maintenance of earth roads, is to be awarded by Logan Waller Page, Director, Office of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. All compositions must be submitted to Mr. Page before May 15, and the medal will be awarded as soon thereafter as the compositions can be graded. The composition may be based on knowledge gained from books or other sources, but no quotations should be made.

After many years' experience in dealing with the public road situation of the country, it is Mr. Page's belief that ignorance on the subject of repair and maintenance of roads is as much the cause of their bad condition as any other one factor. It is expected that the competition will bring about a better understanding of the subject of repair and maintenance in the rural districts.

Many children living in the rural districts have experienced the disadvantages of roads made impassable through a lack of proper maintenance and it is expected that their interest in the competition will stimulate greater interest among the parents. Bad roads have prevented many children from obtaining a proper education and have even prevented doctors from reaching the side of rural patients in time to save their lives.

Any child between the ages mentioned attending a country school, may compete. Only one side of the paper must be written on; each page should be numbered; the name, age and address of the writer and the name and location of the school which he or she is attending must be plainly written at the top of the first page. The announcement of the competition has been sent to the superintendents of schools in the rural districts. No further information can be obtained from the Office of Public Roads. This announcement should be plain to everyone and all children will thus start on a basis of equality.

BIG FEATURE AT PALACE TONIGHT

One of the greatest photoplays ever presented in Charleroi is shown at the Palace Theatre tonight. This is James K. Hackett and company, as shown by Daniel Frohman in "The Prisoner of Zenda," in four parts. The play is a dramatic masterpiece of romance and adventure, and an artistic triumph in photography and setting. It is one of the biggest hits in the history of the film. The Palace has secured the services of a noted lecturer to present this great feature.

An innovation adopted by the association is the cash discount of 5 per cent on all goods carried away from the store and not delivered and this amounted to $191.42 during the quarter. This gives an idea of what the delivery of goods costs the consumer and how much money is saved in the cost of living if people made their own purchases and carried them home themselves.

FAITH OF THE FOREST.

Concerning one of the obscure races of antiquity, a writer in a recent issue of "The Geographical Magazine" writes: "A few of the traits of these curious people may prove of interest, as they show that environment is the strongest factor in determining character. Their intense superstition is accounted for by innate fear of all things they cannot understand. Their shyness, dislike of strangers and dread of their kinsmen and chiefs are again the result of superstition and seclusion. Sadness and melancholia are stamped on their faces, as is natural to a people who are in constant fear of the gent of the mountains, rivers and forests, whose whole time is taken up with propitiating the gods lest evil befall them."

"The Uralian is a product of the forest as the Arab is of the desert. The one is the antithesis of the other. Environment has molded the character of each to his surroundings. The fearless believer in one God, the nomad of the sunlit desert, compares strikingly with the superstitious inhabitants of dark, damp forests, fearsome of evil spirits and credulous of magic charms which doctors

"All through life the forest dweller is in fear of offending the deities, and at death his corpse is carried out and placed on some lone hilltop, where the wild beasts are expected to devour it if the man has led a good life, but had Uralians have not that doubtful honor bestowed upon them?"—Chicago News

RAZORS IN CHINA.

They Cost Little, but They Are Made From Old Iron Horseshoes.

An interesting feature of Chinese industry is the making of knives and razors from old horseshoes. The local blacksmiths in the interior cities and towns supply the great population of the empire with knives, razors and scissors of an inferior quality at a very small cost. This cutlery comes from small shops, where one or two men are employed usually the proprietor and his sons, and is chiefly made from old horseshoes imported from England and the continent. A discarded steel shoe offers the best material for blades, but the blacksmiths prefer the old shoes of soft iron that come from Glasgow and Hamburg.

One British firm at Tientsin brought over a cargo of old horseshoes from Australia recently but could not dispose of them as the native smiths said that the iron was too hard. They like the soft iron because it can be more easily worked by their primitive methods.

A razor commonly used by the poorer class, having a cutting edge of less than two inches, costs 20 tung (about 9 cents in American currency). Upon the strap the blade takes a fair cutting edge, but is too soft to hold it. Any number of stropplings are necessary before the act of shaving can be completed. After the blades are forged they are simply case hardened and not subjected to the careful tempering employed in the production of western cutlery.—Youth's Companion.

THE UMBRELLA.

Its Antiquity and Its Introduction into English Writings.

Umbrellas were first used in a country where the intensity of the light and heat rendered a shade almost indispensable, and discoveries at Nineveh show that they were carried before the king in time of peace and sometimes in war.

In 1608 Thomas Coryat traveled in Italy and wrote: "The people do carry umbrellas that is things that minister shadow unto them for shelter against the scorching of the sun."

In Beaumont and Fletcher's play, 1640 "Rule a Wife and Have a Wife," are these words: "which prove that they were then known in England." "Are you at ease? Now is your heart at ease. Now you have got a shadow an umbrella to keep the world's scorn and opinion from your fair credit."

In 1786 James Hanway died in a house in Regent Square. He was the first man who ventured to walk the streets of London with an umbrella over his head.

Dr. Sherburne was committed in the court of King's Bench for a time and was sentenced to stand in the pillory but a servant in livery was hired to hold an umbrella over his head to

O-dori Street, Tokyo.
One of the most densely populated spots in the world is O-dori street, Tokyo. The long thoroughfare known as Ginza, which runs from near the Shimbashi railway station to Spec-tacles bridge, is made up of several streets with different names, some wide and modern, some old fashioned and narrow, and if the earth were suddenly to gape open wide in that portion known as O-dori street at any hour of the day there is no other thoroughfare in the Japanese city where the results to human life would be more fatal, for here the tide of human life runs the highest. But O-dori street is extremely narrow, so that the density of the crowd does not make the daily figures much above the 300,000 mark. Unlike most of the other important cities of the world, this thickly populated commercial district of Tokyo is situated outside the city walls.—Strand Magazine

FIRST AID IN THE HOME.

The Way to Care For Wounds Until the Doctor Arrives.

There should always be some one in the home who understands the principles of "first aid in injury"—some one who can clean a wound, stop bleeding and apply a bandage.

Even the simplest wounds—where any blood flows—should be given prompt and scientific attention. This does not mean that every home should have a trained surgeon. The following ten emergency hints should be memorized:

Stop the bleeding if severe.
Do not touch an open wound with the fingers.

Note the nature of the injuries and put the injured person in a comfortable place and position.

Summon a surgeon.

Do not disturb blood clots.

Never probe for a bullet.

Pick shreds of clothing and splinters or dirt from a wound.

Then bring the edges of the wound together, but without touching them.

Pack the wound with gauze or absorbent cotton and apply bandage.

Blind on splints if bones are broken.

With a little care a half hour a day for a week, and some practice, any one will be able to carry out the foregoing hints in a hygienic manner.—Kansas City Times.

The Struggles of a Sculptor.

Auguste Rodin, the French sculptor, had a great struggle with poverty, and adversity in his youth. Of an episode of this early period a writer says: "With that indelible will and singleness of purpose that never failed him throughout his career the young sculptor set himself to express in clay, marble or bronze his conception of life and art. He used his leisure in working at nighttime in a deserted stable he had transformed into a studio with his wonderful mask of 'The Man with the Broken Nose.' After eighteen months of hard and patient labor he finished this mask and sent it to the salon. It took the hanging committee fourteen years to discover any merit in the work, for it was rejected in 1864 and finally accepted only in 1878."

- BAZAARS OF CAIRO.

The Curious Tiny Shells and the Narrow, Swarming Streets

The bazaars of Cairo are very interesting. The streets are extremely narrow, and the stores of the merchants are often no larger than a good-sized cupboard, without doors but with shelves on which the goods are displayed. The merchant is squat down on a little platform in front. You see here the wicker in and of silver weaver of silk fabrics and silver makers doing their work in the same way it was done hundreds of years ago. The oldest bazaar is that of the scimitars. It is here a place where they sell their goods, and when you enter within a hundred yards of the bazaar you find you are in a maze.

These narrow streets are crowded with a mass of natives of various women who wear long black headscarves and long black dresses. They are dressed in the same way it was done hundreds of years ago. The oldest bazaar is that of the scimitars. It is here a place where they sell their goods, and when you enter within a hundred yards of the bazaar you find you are in a maze.

Information Not Needed.

A middle-aged woman went into a shop and without hesitation made straight for the crumpe counter. The girl who handled this material was extremely affable.

"We have a large stock of crapes," she explained. "Let me show you some new French goods, very popular at this time for every kind of mourning and designed to express every degree of grief. If you will tell me for whom you are in mourning I can fix you out in exactly the right thing."

"Husband," replied the customer briefly.

"In that case," said the girl graciously, "I can tell you just what."

"Young lady," interrupted the older woman angrily, "you needn't bother yourself. This is the fourth husband I've buried, and I know all about it."—St. Paul Dispatch

The Fiddle Drill.

The "fiddle drill" is one of the oldest stonecutting tools in existence. It is said to antedate Greek sculpture and to be in use today in about the same form as it was 2,000 years ago. As its name implies, its action resembles a fiddle. The drill is of two pieces. In one hand a carver holds the drill stock, which is like a carpenter's brace, except that it is straight instead of having a crank. In the other hand he holds the "bow," which is strung with a brass wire and which is given a turn around the drill stock. The carver uses the drill the carver places the drill stock against his breast, holding it with his left hand, and with his right he draws the bow back and forth, fiddle fashion. This imparts a rotary motion to the drill stock, and the drill is turned to cut in either way it turns. The fiddle drill is used in the finest work in carvings where the sculptor could not reach with his chisel and must work without endangering the work.

To Our Friends and Neighbors

You know us. You know we would not—that we could not afford to go back on our word. Nor can you afford to ignore this money-back-if-not-satisfied offer on this splendid laxative.

We honestly believe we have the best bowel remedy ever made—the pleasant-tasting, most permanently beneficial laxative for relief from the miseries and dangers arising from constipation.

We wouldn't say this if we didn't believe it to be true. We wouldn't risk our reputation by making such statements did we not feel sure you would find them true.

Our faith is built both on the knowledge of what Rexall Orderlies are made of and on observation of very many severe cases in which they have proven their merit.

Try them at Our Risk

If they do not abundantly prove their merit with you also—if you are not entirely satisfied with them—we will refund your money—and we will do that on your mere say-so. We don't ask you to risk a penny. Isn't that fair?

Just let the bowels fall in properly doing their duty. Let them action be delayed and incomplete and the entire system and every other organ suffers. Wastes that CAUTION: Please bear in mind that Rexall Orderlies are not sold by all druggists. You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at The Rexall Store.

Tell it to Your Neighbors.

If you are one of those fortunate women who have found relief through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound from the dreadful suffering incident to some female derangement tell of it to your neighbor whom you hear complain of dreadful backache, bearing down pains, dizziness, headaches, irregularities, nervousness and despondency, and when she finds relief in nature's remedy for woman's ills as thousands of other women have she will bless you for telling her about it.

MAN'S ARTERIES.

And Some of the Causes That Tend to Make Them Harden.

"A man is as old as his arteries" is a common saying among physicians, which has come to be taken up by their patients. Dr. Herbert C. Clapp of Boston in the New York Medical Record comes forward with an article declaring that worry is a common cause of arteriosclerosis, the hardening of the arteries is not infrequently considered as one of the customary and proper accompaniments of a ripe old age—somehow even of middle life. It is not universally so and that even at fourscore years, as proved by autopsies, the arteries have been found to be perfectly sound. He cites the case of the distinguished old man, Thomas Parr of England, who died at the advanced age of 152 and whose arteries were found by Harver—who discovered the circulation of the blood—on examination after death to be perfectly sound.

Dr. Clapp says that within certain limits the arteries do not harden because they are old, but are old because they are diseased. Among causes for arteriosclerosis he gives overeating, excessive muscular strain and excessive brain work. Worry produces functional disturbances and undue blood pressure. This brings with it arteriosclerosis. He holds that most worries are induced in without an adequate reason, therefore, and cites the following quotation: "I am an old man and have had many troubles, but most of them were self-inflicted."

Too Strong.

A young woman from the west who lately has been admitted to the intimacy of "the artistic set" of Washington recently made this query of an artist with reference to the work of a fellow painter:

"When he looks at the pictures he is painting? When I visited his studio the other day he made me do it too."

"The explanation is simple enough," said the other. "Did you ever try to look at them with your eyes wide open? Well, don't; you can't stand it." —New York Press.

H. Smith. There are also many other educational and travel pictures which add to the program that will constitute a most interesting exhibit.

HUNDRED YEAR CLUBS

Believe Life May Be Prolonged.

Men who are devoting their lives to the study of longevity believe that in days to come a man of ninety will be in his prime and old age will begin long past a hundred years.

When the blood gets thin and sluggish and creeps lazily through the veins and the arteries begin to harden, there is nothing that will enrich the blood, improve the circulation and restore strength to every backsliding organ in the body so quickly as our delicious cod liver and iron tonic Vinol. Here is proof.

Mrs. Michael Bloom of Lewiston Pa., at 83 years of age was so weak she had to be wheeled around in an invalid's chair—she writes that after taking a few bottles of Vinol she could take long walks and do her housework. That shows how Vinol strengthens old people.

Try Vinol on our guarantee that it will do you good or cost you nothing. Piper Bros., Druggists.

Fire Occurs Today

In The Springtime

If youth men should sow the seed of economy that they may enjoy the fruit therefrom during the winter of old age. And the success of the harvest depends upon the cultivation of the crop—eternal vigilance in attaining extravagant luxuries required.

A savings account will encourage thrift and is the most feasible plan for the wage earner in building up a competency in old age.
